A Sourdough Culture sachet can make one loaf or two! We recommend optimizing your culture by making two loaves and storing half the dough in the refrigerator for up to a week.

Leave at room temperature for 1 - 2 hours before baking from the refrigerator.

You will need an ovenproof 4 L (1 US Gal) pot with lid made from ceramic, cast iron, or glass.

Ingredients	1 loaf	2 loaves
Sourdough Culture	1 sachet	1 sachet
Artisan salt	1 - 1 1/2 tsp	2 - 3 tsp
High grade white flour	3 cups (384 g)	6 cups (768 g)

Cinnamon	1 tsp	2 tsp
Mixed spice	1 tsp	2 tsp

Add all dry ingredients to the bowl. Mix well.

Create a 'well' in the middle and pour the warm water into it.

Tip the dough onto a well-floured surface using your scraper to remove all the dough from the bowl. With wet hands fold the outside edges inwards.

Make the dough into a ball and place it back into a floured bowl for a second rise of 2 hours in a warm place.

Mix to create a soft, sticky dough with your Mad Millie specialised whisk.

Cover the bowl loosely with cling film or a damp clean muslin cloth. Let rise in a warm place (above 20°C / 60°F) for 20 - 48 hours.

Preheat the oven and cooking pot with lid to 230°C (450°F). Place the dough into the centre of the pre-heated pot.

Bake with the lid on for 25 minutes. Remove the lid and bake for a further 18 minutes or until golden brown.

While the yeast works its magic, gas is produced. This makes the holes in your bread as well as giving the delicious sourdough tang.

The longer the first rise, the more sour the flavour of your bread.

A Sourdough Culture sachet can make one loaf or two! We recommend doubling this recipe and making two loaves from one sachet. Store half the dough in the refrigerator for no longer than a day due to the dough containing fresh eggs.

Leave at room temperature for 1 - 2 hours before baking from the fridge.

4 Cover the bowl loosely with cling film or a damp clean muslin cloth and let rise in a warm place (above 20°C / 60°F) for 20 - 24 hours.
